HUMIDIFIERS

You might have noticed that winters here are very dry. A humidifier is a machine that creates hot or cold steam and is released through a small hole. There is often a small rim where drops of essential oils, or aromatherapy scents such as Climarome can be placed. Make sure you turn yours on as soon as you start to feel a cold coming on.

This is what one person said about this doctor: Speaks English, actively consults other doctors to whom he has referred you, will follow up after a visit with a phone call at home. Makes himself completely accessible 24h/7, and has never once refused a same/next day appointment my husband or our friends have requested. You'll never wait in his waiting room longer than a few minutes. In fact, if you're like me, you'll be disappointed that you didn't get to wait longer - his wife picks out the English language magazines in his waiting room, and I show up extra early just to get some extra time to go through them! You'll get used to having open lines of communication and corresponding by e-mail on a regular basis. His receptionist is very friendly, and when she realizes that you speak English, she will transfer your call to him. After that initial call, you'll be able to email him or call directly.
